Sugar, salt or sweeteners may be key to getting children to eating greens

06-Apr-2018 By Niamh Michail

Adding very small amounts of sugar or salt to food may increase vegetable intake by reducing bitterness, and could be an important first step in getting children to eat leafy greens, researchers have found.

MEXICO - Mexican farmers benefit from new cane variety

The farmers whose farms are a part of the Plan Chontalpa in Cardenas and Huimanguillo have benefitted from a new cane variety CP-039 developed jointly by scientists from Mexico and a Cardenas college in Cuba, as it can yield up to 140mt/ha. Meanwhile, the Cuban and Mexican sugar technicians associations ATAC and ATAM signed an agreement to deepen their ties. (Diario Presente & La Prensa)
